Art Unit: 1732

1.The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 7-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hutton et al. (4,650,947) as set forth in the previous Office action.

2.The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3.Claims 5, 6, 12, 13 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hutton et al. as set forth in the previous Office action.

4.Claims 14 and 18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5.Applicants' arguments filed April 6, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants initially argue that Hutton does not teach or suggest an upper platen and a heated lower platen that are selectably movable toward and away from each other for conformally receiving a vessel therebetween and that the trough formed by the bow 14 of Hutton cannot be properly characterized as being conformally received in the same manner as in the claimed invention. The examiner disagrees, first of all, because there is indeed at least some conformal contact between the platen or platens and the bow 14 of Hutton et al. Perhaps more importantly, it is noted that a patent is being sought for the press structure itself, not the method of using the press and that the vessel (or bow) itself is not really a part of the press.

Applicants further argue that even if Hutton et al. could be construed as having conformal contact with the trough and the lower support fixture, this reference does not teach or suggest having conformal contact between the trough and lower support fixture and between the upper fixture and a pad while the space is being filled with a pressurized material. Even though the examiner has noted a portion of Hutton et al. which describes the application of pressure, Applicants argue that the application of force is not brought about by expansion of a ribbon of resin foam that would only occur when the bulk of the ribbon is heated to an elevated temperature to activate the blowing agent. But this latter argument also addresses the method of use of the press rather than the structure of the press. The same can be said concerning Applicants' discussion of how Hutton et al. employ induction heating.

Applicants also argue that the claims rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 are allowable for the same reasons that instant claim 1 is allowable, but the examiner disagrees for the reasons set forth previously.

6.THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
